3.1. Group/Single training session

Tips and tricks that you will not find in any hand book

We will show you tips and tricks that are beneficial for your daily work out in the field To keep costs down we can train you and your colleagues in familiar surroundings such as your office site. Theory of our mobile survey will be taught in group sessions and more briefly trained on practical examples such as your office building. Single sessions are the most effective way of training. We analyse your pre knowledge and suit to the training according to your needs. You decide the pace and the amount of content trained.

3.2. Project coaching

We won't let you down in projects that are time critical.

We can train you on-sites that are part of the job to save you time. Your advantage is that no extra time is wasted and that your learning curve s short – since you are practical trained. An average training takes approx. 4 hours and after that we will train you on the real live job – answering you project related questions. Experience shows that through our project coaching on-site the money spent on training is amortized in a day.

3.3. Hotline

We will have a solution to your problem.

Through our long experience on worldwide projects there is nothing that has not already been requested or been done. We use the solutions on our own projects and therefore guarantee highest reliability and practical orientation.
